

CALL FOR PAPERS

LACEA'S HEALTH ECONOMICS NETWORK

2nd Annual Workshop

October 3 and 4, 2019

Universidad del Pacífico,
Lima (Peru)

LACEA's health economics network will hold its second annual workshop in Lima (Peru) on the premises of the Faculty of Economics and Finance, Universidad del Pacífico, on the 3rd and 4th of October 2019. We will have around 14 presentations and discussions of high quality papers in health economics, selected by a scientific committee, and two keynote talks: Paul Gertler (UC, Berkeley) and Pedro Pita Barros (Nova School of Business and Economic).

Submissions

Both empirical and theoretical contributions are welcome. Submissions will be judged on their academic merit, where a clear identification strategy will be favoured. Those papers which work on topics relevant for the Latin American context are highly encouraged. A non-comprehensive list of proposed topics is:

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none">• health prevention and health related behaviours• objective and subjective health outcomes• public health, mixed private-public health care systems• health expenditures | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• market regulation and incentives• insurers'/providers' competition and choice• national, social and private insurance• risk adjustment• high cost drugs and long term care• policy evaluation and assessment |
|--|---|

Papers must be submitted in English, in PDF format without any specific length limit, and no later than June 28th 11:55 PM (UTC-5) to be considered for the workshop. Papers should be submitted to: health.economics@up.edu.pe.

If you have any question please contact to: health.economics@up.edu.pe.

Authors of accepted papers will be notified by July 19th.

Funding

Selected papers will receive partial funding to cover travel (tourist class) and accommodation expenses. Young scholars and graduate students will be given preference in this respect.
